The Clinical and Translational Science Institute at the University of Pittsburgh is soliciting applications to the Pain Research Challenge. Solutions can address the dynamics and causes of pain, or methods for the alleviation and treatment of pain. Applications can address either physiological or psychological factors of pain. Awards will be funded by the Virginia Kaufman Endowment Fund and CTSI.

For more information: Pain Challenge

Deadline: February 29, 2016

Up to $150k in awards